Hi Mom,

Here are photos of the Crosby repair. Some photos are "before" repair, and some after:

I used one of your personal checks to deposit a final payment for Tai for $1,000 to cover his interior repairs.

Hi Mom,

I am going to use one of your blank checks for me for the following amounts:

Geico - $700

Crosby mold, Stage 1 (diagnosis) - $1,400

Crosby mold, Stage 2 (roof fix) - $1,600

TOTAL - $3,700 (see attachment)

For Geico, that's about your fair share. In April 2024, I paid $2,382 for the next six-month policy period. You do a lot less mileage than us, so your share of the total should be less.

As for the Crosby fixes, here is a further breakdown.

Stage 1, deposit - $1,400 paid by Huy

Stage 1, final payment - $1,400 paid by Maria

Stage 2, deposit - $1,900 paid by Maria

Stage 2, final payment - $1,600 paid by Huy

To reimburse Maria, you simply credit her for $3,300 = $1,400 + $1,900. That means that she effectively already paid for her August 1st rent.

For the final stage, of restoring the interior, Tai will do that next week.
