

Subject: Hanh encouraged end-of-life for Dad -- two years ago!

From: Mark Cao <mark.cao@gmail.com>

Date: 1/17/2025, 11:10 AM

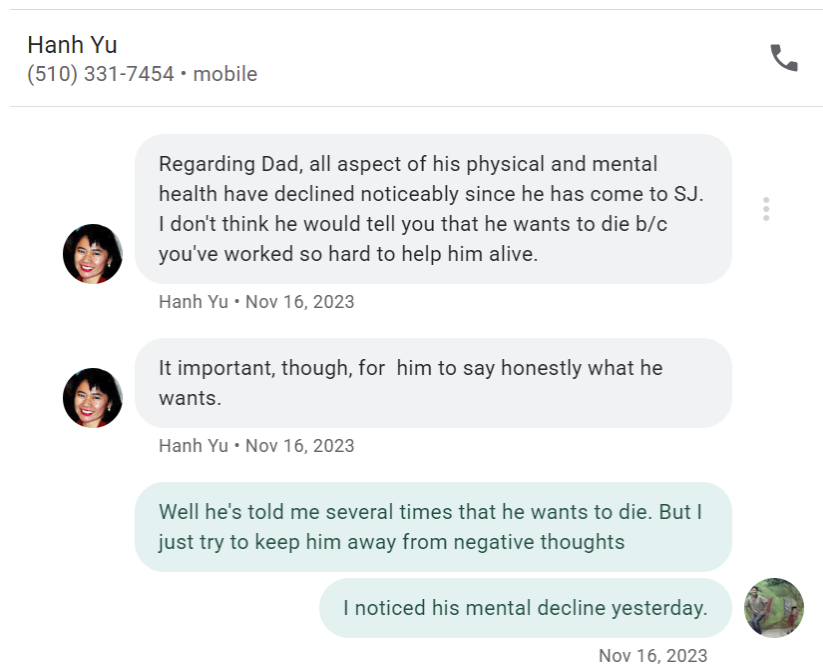

To: Thanh Xuan Huynh <Thanhxhuynh2003@yahoo.com>

CC: Hanh Yu <hanhcaoyu@gmail.com>

Hanh called me a liar about this topic. Hanh, your words speak for yourself. See the screenshots below.

And Ms. Huynh: I used to feel sorry for you for being stuck with Elena and Hanh to care for you. But after everything you're doing to Dad right now, you deserve them at the time in life when you will become helpless.

Sincerely,
Huy

Hanh Yu
(510) 331-7454 • mobile

I noticed his mental decline yesterday.

Nov 16, 2023

Might be good to ask his doctor what kind of mental health services Kaiser can provide.

Hanh Yu • Nov 16, 2023

I agree this is a big issue, but I think we need to take this one gradually

Nov 16, 2023

Regarding mom's passport renewal, she waited too late, but it might not be a bad idea to renew in case happens and she needs to stay in VN longer. Last time she was delayed coming back b/c of covid. Thx for your help. She asked me for help in taking a passport photo. I tried to

Hanh Yu
(510) 331-7454 • mobile

NOV 16, 2023

I asked him about falling off the bed last night. He laughed so I asked him if he was just horsing around. And he said yes he was

Nov 16, 2023

Dad should be aware of options so that he can make choices on his own terms.

<https://healthy.kaiserpermanente.org/southern-california/health-wellness/life-care-plan/end-of-life-option-act>

Hanh Yu • Nov 16, 2023

I think he already made choices on his own terms, in the AHD. Dad's current behavior is definitely a sign of depression, I completely agree with that. But also he's a drama queen and attention-seeking much of the time. Some of that is hard to sort out, which is why any decisions should be made deliberately.

Nov 17, 2023

Hanh Yu
(510) 331-7454 • mobile

the time. Some of that is hard to sort out, which is why any decisions should be made deliberately.

Nov 17, 2023

For example: He wants to relieve the ache of his right arm and complains about it often. That doesn't seem consistent with someone who's dwelling on dying. A more cautious approach for his case is to try to relieve his depression. After that, see where the chips fall

Nov 17, 2023

Did Dad have a visit with his N CA Kaiser doctor? How was it?

Hanh Yu • Nov 19, 2023