I don't keep track of what I do for mom or dad. I wanted my phone back so that when I upgrade my phone, I can keep my current one and turn that one in for a credit towards my upgrade.

You don't need to send any money.

I do t need any more emails from you regarding this topic.

Here's what I suggest. Dad does separate accounting than me. If you want to pay me, you pay me. If Dad owes you something, Dad will pay you. Dad and I are not merged at the hip.

I have no idea how to calculate for the solar work. You work something out if you want to pay that.

Subtract it against what I owe you for the solar work. I don't need a check.

It was an extra one that I had. It didn't cost me $1K.

I'm about to send you a check for $1,000 for dad's iPhone under an assumption that you provided this cell phone to him.

Thanks,
